Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-18, drawn to a magnetically controllable endoscope system and method of use, classified in class 600, subclass 146.
 - II. Claims 19-23, drawn to a method of magnetically controlling an endoscope using a pre-operative image set, classified in class 128, subclass 898.
 - III. Claims 24-29, drawn to method of magnetically navigating an endoscope by corresponding a displayed image with a directional control, classified in class 600, subclass 118.
 - IV. Claims 30-34, drawn to a magnetically and automatically controllable endoscope system using a plurality of sensors, classified in class 600, subclass 117.
 - V. Claims 35-39, drawn to a flexible endoscope, classified in class 600, subclass 139.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and V are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the combination in invention I does not require the particulars of the tube flexibilities as claimed. The subcombination has separate utility such as for use with a detector for detecting the location of the distal end of the endoscope.

Art Unit: 3739

3. Inventions I and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as controlled manually, without computer control. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

4. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as locating the end of the endoscope to a particular location in the body without correlating the directional control with the displayed image. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification and the search required for any one group would not inclusively include the search for another, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Since the endoscope art is considered a "crowded" art in that an endoscope system is limited to certain basic elements, a search for different and distinct features or process steps relating to these elements is burdensome for the examiner. In addition, any particular invention searched would required it's own combination of classes to be searched. Although overlapping, these combination of classes are not coextensive.

6. A telephone call was made on July 21, 2000 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

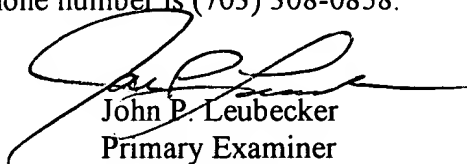

Art Unit: 3739

8. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a petition under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
